The Municipal Buildings, Glasgow, are situated on the eastern side of George Square. They occupy ground to the extent of 1½ acres, and were erected in 1883-8 from designs by Mr. William Young. The walls rise to an average height of 75 feet, the buildings being capped by a tower 210 feet high. In the centre of George Square are gardens and statues, including the Scott Monument, a fluted Doric column 80 feet high surmounted by a statue of Sir Walter Scott by H. Ritchie.
